Old Church — New Life

21st October 2018

Real Christianity, Real Change

To say the church of our Lord Jesus here in the West is in crisis is an understatement. There are many aspects to and reasons for this crisis and today's passage touches on one of those reasons. It is one marked by a profound disconnect between who we are or claim to be and how we live. We see this in particular with regard to clergy and their past conduct. For the ancient Israelites this was a patent nonsense. Who you are and how you act are closely connected. To profess to follow Christ and live in a clearly contrary manner only indicates one's profession and identity. That's why Jesus was so confrontational with the religious leaders. Their lives told a different story.

Peter reminds us that to claim allegiance to Christ, to follow him means laying old ways of living aside, to match one's faith with one's thoughts and actions. We will never do that perfectly but nonetheless in the Spirit we strive to be and live more and more like Christ. In Christ, God's holiness becomes ours. We have been sanctified, set apart as holy and so now we seek to be loving AND holy in word and deed. Ultimately it is the good news of Jesus that changes lives but more and more will be drawn to him as they see those changed lives in practice, in us as we serve him.

Michael Stuart

Church Matters

Please don't be confused when you try to open the side gate to the church. It has been turned around so that it opens outwards from the back garden. This is in line with Occupational Health and Safety guidelines so that in an emergency it will work more efficiently to get people out. Thank you to Len Whyman who has worked on the gate to make it comply with the standards.

Thank you, also, to Fred Acott who has been working very hard to bring the church in line with safety standards. This includes the evacuation procedures, the creation of the muster point and the writing of the church procedures and policies.

There are further safety standards to be attended to in the area of food preparation where aprons, hats and gloves need to be worn. These will be kept in the lower cupboard by the back door. While I am on the subject of the kitchen, could I please ask that people check the cups before they put them away to make sure that they have been cleaned properly and no stains, no rings and no lipstick have been left? Could flower arrangers please make sure that vases are not left in the kitchen but are washed and put away in the cupboard in the vestry? Thank you to everyone for their assistance in this.

In Christ, Lynne Smith (People's Warden)
