Old Church — New Life

4th June 2017

COMING DOWN, DRAWING UP

Today we celebrate the coming of the Holy Spirit. As God the Son came down and laid down his life to secure our salvation so God the Spirit came down to fill God's people. So often we stop there but there is a richer and foundational understanding to him we need to keep in mind.

The New Testament teaches us that the Spirit comes down amongst his people, beginning at Pentecost and continuing when people trust in Jesus. That we understand but I think we need to remember two other key doctrines. The first is that the Spirit comes but he does not go. Wherever there is faith in Christ, there you will find the Spirit present and working. His presence does not need to be cajoled or conjured in any way. Secondly John distills Jesus' teaching in his gospel, reminding us the Spirit draws us up into the very being, presence and family of God. So Paul declares that only by the Spirit do we cry 'Abba, Father' and 'Jesus is Lord'. It is that reality that underlies and drives our lives and service of him day by day.
